This fall, the Office of JD Admissions is hosting online information sessions for prospective students who wish to learn more about NYU Law School on:

- Wednesday, October 19 at 3:30 PM EDT
- Wednesday, November 9 at 3:30 PM EDT
- Wednesday, November 30 at 3:30 PM EST
- Thursday, December 1 at 12:00 PM EST

These presentations will be a special broadcast of a live information session with an admissions representative. Prospective students will have an opportunity to submit questions about NYU's curriculum, student life, and the admissions process via our online chat tool. We are asking you to share information about these online information sessions with your students who are interested in further exploring the field of law.

NYU Law is widely recognized as one of the finest teaching and research institutions in the world. The Law School is a leader and innovator in many areas, including civil rights, public interest law, international law, intellectual property, law and business, taxation, environmental law and land use law, and clinical education. Our diverse and distinguished faculty hail from around the world and are committed to NYU’s global legal perspective. We have a range of signature scholarship programs that provide up to full tuition, as well as intensive mentoring to develop tomorrow’s leaders. Students are passionate about their work and activities at the Law School. Our location in New York City, the world center of finance, commerce, the arts, and public service, provides a vibrant atmosphere in which to study law and offers students limitless opportunities for real world experiences outside the classroom. The Law School and its residence halls are located on New York University’s main campus in Greenwich Village, a beautiful and historic residential neighborhood.

Students may register at https://nyu.qualtrics.com/SE/?SID=SV_0VaxBUgKAUxG5aR and select a date on which they would like to join us. We will then be in touch with the student a few days before their chosen session with access instructions.

If students cannot attend any of these events, we encourage them to get to know NYU Law and to spend some time with the Law School’s Magazine, an annual publication that showcases some of the exciting and cutting edge work of our faculty and students. We also invite students to visit us on campus and contact us with any questions.
