We're hiring for an Assistant Controller / Head of FP&A. Great opportunity for someone eager to leapfrog in their career and train to be a start-up CFO. But we've got a very thin team and need an absolute superstar.

Bevi is a well funded startup, backed by Trinity Ventures' recent Series B investment.

Bevi's mission is to eliminate plastic bottles by making the best drinks instantly available on demand, using purified tap water and natural ingredients. Our team possesses passion, energy, and the drive to both win and to make a difference in the world. We are looking for like-minded people to join us as we continue in aggressive growth mode.

The Assistant Controller / Head of FP&A will report directly to the CFO and will largely shadow the CFO. He/she will be responsible for 1) managing the financial forecasts for the business and 2) leading the control functions of the business. In close collaboration with the CFO, this person will be the point person for all strategic analyses and long-term financial planning. The role will also require establishing, evolving and executing all aspects of closing the books, Sales Audit, AR, AP and payroll. This is a great opportunity for a superstar analyst or accountant hoping to leapfrog the typical growth ladder, or perhaps hoping to apply to business school after two years.

The successful candidate will possess the following attributes, experiences and capabilities:

· 2 – 5 years experience with accounting and/or financial analyses, as part of a national accounting firm, investment bank or Fortune 100 company
· Investment banking experience strongly preferred
· Willingness and capability to succeed independently and be productive with minimal oversight -- we will not have time to train you!
· Comfort working within a startup environment
· Capable of providing insight from the financial processes and then using this insight to inform the management team for corporate/strategic improvements
· Leveraging an understanding of the business operations (sales, operations, etc.) to create processes that can scale with strong operational efficiencies
· Team player mentality, committed to success of the business
· Ability to give face to face presentations to executive management
· Willingness to teach and to be taught
· Fun — bring a sense of humor!!

GENERAL CHARACTERISTICS:
· Bring solutions, not problems. If you can’t solve a problem, ask for help – don’t complain
· Be likable – we’re building a great business together, so let’s enjoy the ride
· Take your job seriously, but not yourself

COMPENSATION:
· Competitive base salary; equity
· Customary health and dental benefits

Please send your resume to jobs@bevi.co and explain why you’re interested in the role.
