Applying to law school is an exciting and contemplative experience, but distinguishing among law schools can be overwhelming. We invite you to a special information session to speak with an Admissions Officer from Columbia Law School. You will have the opportunity to learn about the Law School, as well as gain insight into the admissions process, curriculum, career opportunities, and the many resources available to you as you navigate your path towards a legal education. There will be a presentation followed by a Q&A session and all class years and majors are welcome. You do not need to be applying for the 2017-2018 cycle in order to attend. We look forward to connecting with you!
